Strong Year and Looking Ahead

I am happy to report that we had another strong year financially for the cooperative. This past year marked our first full season operating out of the new agronomy plant, and it performed very well. From efficiency to capacity, the transition went smoothly, and we are confident that we have the facility, staff, and equipment in place to support continued growth for years to come.

Our propane and fuel department also saw an increase in gallons over the past year. A colder winter played a key role in driving demand, which contributed positively to overall earnings.

Looking ahead to 2026, we will be installing new underground fuel tanks, upgrading dispensers, and updating the front counters at our McIntosh and Oklee C-Stores. The current underground tanks are reaching the end of their service life, making these upgrades necessary. We were successful in securing grant funding to help support this project. This investment will allow us to add more fuel options at the dispensers while ensuring the underground tanks meet the environmental safety guidelines.

The annual meeting is scheduled for April 9th; I hope to see many of you there. Thank you for the continued support of your local cooperative.

Dividend checks that are not collected at this meeting will be mailed the first week of May.

Getting ready for Spring Planting

With spring planting just around the corner, now is the time to make sure your operation is set up for success. Having your inputs secured early – whether it's fertilizer, crop protection, seed or fuel -helps keep things moving efficiently once conditions are fit to get in the field. We strongly encourage booking and prepaying for your products ahead of the season. This allows us to plan inventory accordingly and ensure we have the right products in place to meet your needs during the spring rush. Early planning also helps minimize delays and keeps your operation on schedule when every day counts. If you'd like to review your plans or make adjustments, stop in and visit with our agronomy team. We're here to help make sure everything is lined up for the season ahead.

Our first year with the new plant ran smoothly, and we're looking forward to building on that success. With improved efficiency and strong preparation, we're ready to support a safe and productive planting season. We appreciate your business and look forward to working alongside you this spring.
